ITRC especially acknowledges the perseverance and persistence that team co-leaders Paul Eger (Minnesota) and Cherri Baysinger (Missouri) displayed during nearly three years of unfunded commitment to the project. They completed a White Paper, searched for team members who gradually built a new membership base and funding for ITRC, and completed the first ITRC web-based Tech-Reg. They held themselves and their team to the highest standard. Steve Hill of RegTech, Inc. also committed many hours to get this project under way, provide advice on proper scope, and help the team Co-leaders manage the development of the Web-Based Tech-Reg. In sum, ITRC commends this team and its leadership and management for staying the course and completing this project. We can all learn from their commitment.
